“...PEOPLE WILL COME FROM EAST AND WEST, AND FROM NORTH AND SOUTH, AND THEY WILL SIT DOWN [AND FEAST AT THE TABLE] IN THE KINGDOM OF GOD.”

LUKE 13:29 (AMP)
is like setting a beautiful table.
Detailed preparation lovingly made for each guest.
A place of honor reserved for the lost & the broken.
Thankfulness compels the hands of those who prepare it.
You, our friends & partners set the table.

One by one, you add another chair, a plate, a glass — inviting all who hunger or thirst.

All are welcome.
GOD,
in His infinite mercy & justice fills each seat
and satisfies every need.

And together, we celebrate.
Dear Friends,

As the year began, God put it on my heart to make 2015 the “Year of Thanks.” I invited you to join me in being appreciative for all the great things—both big and small—that He does for us every single day.

I don’t think there’s any better way to thank God for all He’s done in our lives than to reach out and help someone else—to alleviate their pain, let them know God loves them, and provide for their needs any way we can.

In 2015, together we did just that, sharing the Gospel message with people around the world...then showing them this message through the practical outreaches of Hand of Hope, Joyce Meyer Ministries World Missions.

From rescuing young girls out of human trafficking, to supplying fresh water for entire communities, to bringing lifesaving medical help to those without any form of health care, together we helped people in their greatest moment of need.

As you sit down and read the stories and see the faces of those we’ve been able to reach, we believe it will fill you with even more gratitude.

Dave and I love and appreciate you more than you know, and we hope this special report gives you just a glimpse of how much you mean to this ministry.

Friends, in 2015, you helped us bring more people to God’s table than ever before...and we are so thankful.

Joyce
Ten-year-old Grace didn’t know what was wrong. Every morning, she experienced so much fear and anxiety that it made her physically sick.

For years, her mother watched helplessly as her anxiety got worse. On several occasions, she rushed her to the emergency room, thinking she was having a heart attack.

Grace’s anxiety led her to depression... and she started losing hope of ever getting better.

As a teenager, Grace began watching the Enjoying Everyday Life TV program. She also started paging through a copy of Joyce’s book, Battlefield of the Mind.

That’s when something unexpected happened. For the first time she could remember, she felt peace. She realized God’s Word was the medicine that could finally help her.

Today, Grace is a college student, living free from fear and anxiety. Peaceful and full of hope, she now sees a bright future ahead.

Together, in 2015 we shared the message of God’s love with millions all around the world—people like Grace, desperate for hope.

From Joyce’s Enjoying Everyday Life TV and radio broadcasts...to our books and teaching resources...to joycemeyer.org and various social media platforms, you’re making it possible to reach more people in more ways.

For some, you helped us deliver the message in person. In 2015, Joyce held conferences in cities all across the United States and in Europe, sharing the message of God’s love with over 280,000 people!
One highlight occurred last May, when Joyce spoke to tens of thousands of people at four separate conferences in England, France and the Netherlands. It was a tremendous opportunity to reach so many who don't know Jesus Christ.

We partnered with a cutting-edge media group in France to help reach people online with Joyce’s practical teachings. The results were beyond our expectations: Thousands immediately began signing up for our online courses.

It helped set the stage for our conference last May, when over 13,300 people filled the venue in France to hear Joyce teach...and more than 18,000 also watched live online!

It’s really pretty simple: Our goal is to continually find new and better ways to reach as many people as we can with God’s Word...to go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation (Mark 16:15).
In 2015, Joyce’s Enjoying Everyday Life TV program was broadcast into millions of homes...reaching a potential audience of 4.5 billion people throughout two-thirds of the world.

Many nations are closed to the Gospel, making it difficult or even impossible to plan any type of evangelistic outreach in their area. However, we can reach so many of these people through Joyce’s broadcast.

Letters pour in to our offices from Egypt, Jordan, Iraq and across the Middle East from people who have seen our program televised in Arabic. They are not only accepting Jesus Christ, but many are enjoying emotional and spiritual freedom for the first time in their lives!

Deanna wrote to tell us, “It was 3:00 a.m. and I couldn’t sleep. I was actually contemplating suicide. I watched your show, and I sobbed and begged God for help. He used your broadcast to save my life.

In 2015, you made moments like this possible...then multiplied it over and over again.

Today, an important part of “going into all the world” involves finding and meeting people where they are—online and through social media.

This year, more than 12 million people visited joycemeyer.org to receive help and hope from Joyce’s articles and online programs, leave a prayer request or get updates on our missions outreaches.

We also made countless connections via Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, Instagram, Pinterest and Periscope. You helped us communicate the love of Christ to millions of people around the world...sometimes 140 characters at a time.

Friends, you have a part in every single life we have reached together in 2015—whether it’s at a conference, a program watched at home, or a message heard online at just the right time.

You’re making a way for more people than ever to hear the life-changing message of Jesus Christ, bringing God’s Word around the world...and into the hearts of millions.

IT’S BEEN A YEAR OF THANKS...

We have so much to be thankful for, and focusing on what God’s doing in our lives is a great way to live—it energizes us, gives us joy, and fills us with hope!

At the beginning of the year, I decided that I wanted to be the most thankful person on the planet...and I invited you to join me.

Using the hashtag #yearofthanks, you flooded social media, sharing your gratitude with the world. Here are just a few of the wonderful comments people posted in 2015.

—Joyce

“Thank you, Lord for the many people who are blessings in my life.”
—MICHELLE M.

“Be thankful and say so...”
—Psalm 100:4 (AMPC)

“The Lord delivered me from drugs and alcohol!”
—JEANNIE M.
32,546 people received Jesus Christ at our conferences all across the United States and in Europe.

15.6 MILLION combined followers on Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, Instagram, Periscope and Pinterest are connecting with the ministry at any given moment.

tv.joycemeyer.org can be accessed 24-7 around the world, providing over 1,000 of Joyce’s TV programs in 85 languages.

1.2 MILLION of Joyce’s books were distributed globally in 131 different languages. In 2015, we began translating Joyce’s books in 8 new languages.
“...Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation.”

MARK 16:15 (AMP)
How exciting it is to offer a hungry child a place of honor at the table. To give a desperate, exhausted child the opportunity to learn. To share love and comfort with a child who would otherwise be alone and afraid. Friends, this year you brought more children to the table than ever before, providing a nutritious meal and the message of Christ to more than 76,000 children on a regular basis.
Sandeep Telengana, India—
Nine-year-old Sandeep lives in the village of Nadigadda Thanda. Here, his father works as a stonecutter and his mother works as a maid. Unfortunately, their combined income isn’t enough to provide for the needs of their children. Sandeep and his younger sister attend school, but the lack of food has often left them too hungry and weak to focus.

They began attending the Hand of Hope feeding center in their village, where they regularly receive a healthy meal, meet other children, and learn all about God’s love. We also help Sandeep with his school lessons.

“We are so happy about the program,” says their mother, Padma. “They are healthy now...they are not falling sick. They are also able to focus and concentrate on their studies.”

Best of all, Sandeep has begun a relationship with Jesus and now brings his entire family to church each week and continues to invite others.

Thanks to you, they are now healthy, safe, and hopeful about their future.

Hamburg, Germany—The city of Hamburg is temporary home to thousands of refugees escaping dire situations in Syria, Afghanistan, Iran and Iraq. An overwhelming number of these refugees are children. The trauma that these children have already experienced is more than most of us will experience in a lifetime.

In 2015 we provided more than 100,000 meals to impoverished children in Nepal. For many, it is the only meal they receive all day.
Joyce Meyer Ministries, Hand of Hope has partnered with Stadtinsel to implement the “Drawing Room,” a groundbreaking outreach to help refugee children work through their emotional and psychological pain.

The first Drawing Room has been launched inside a refugee home. Trained staff members help the children creatively express their emotions and experiences by drawing.

Drawing allows them to share anything, recalling memories and bringing hidden things to light. It also gives children a sense of control over their own experiences.

For example, an eight-year-old girl from Syria drew a picture of her family, with the bottom third depicting a fire. She commented on her work, saying, “All is well now.”

One young boy from Syria painted holiday memories that included an island, sun, flowers and animals—insights into a pleasant time in his life. These positive memories bring inner stability and create a foundation of confidence and hope.
So far, we have seen tremendous improvement in the children’s growth and behavior, and we have initiated similar programs in other parts of Germany. Through this outreach, you’re helping these children in their moment of pain, providing loving care at a critical time that will impact the rest of their lives.

Roja, Chandrakal, India—We first met Roja in 2008. She was a sweet, but sad, 10-year-old girl who had recently lost both of her parents. Because Roja was HIV positive, the people in her tiny village were afraid and no one was willing to share their food and water with her, let alone take her in.

Roja became the inspiration for Home of Hope, the Hand of Hope children’s home in Chandrakal for kids who are HIV positive. Today, Home of Hope cares for 49 children, and Roja is a vibrant 18-year-old leader of the pack. Now in college, she is bright, inquisitive and wants to study physical therapy. She wants to help others the way she was helped.

She has paved the way for other younger children like Chitti. After experiencing Christ’s love at Home of Hope, Chitti hopes to someday fulfill her dream of becoming a pastor.

“We take care of these kids as if they’re our own,” says G. Sunil Samuel, one of the house parents. “We take that responsibility, that position of being their father and mother, especially when they need love and care.”

In 2015, you supported these precious children, along with hundreds of others in more than 20 children’s homes all across Asia. Thank you for giving them a chance to know Jesus Christ...and have a life beyond what they could have ever imagined.
My mom loves many things. She loves teaching, she loves her family, but there is perhaps nothing she loves more than the Word of God. And she is determined to inspire other people to spend time studying it.

A couple of years ago, God put it on my mom’s heart to launch the 3030 Challenge—a challenge to study the Bible 30 minutes a day for 30 days. The response has really been incredible. Hundreds of thousands of people have signed up on our website to participate and grow closer to God.

People like Sheryl from South Carolina who says, “I’ve known God since I was a child, but in recent years I had all but forgotten Him.” After becoming ill and losing a good paying job, Sheryl began to sell her belongings on eBay to make ends meet.

Sick and destitute, she found solace in watching Joyce on Enjoying Everyday Life. “Finally, I decided to do the 3030 Challenge and start studying the Word on my own. The first week, I got so caught up in studying and reading that I didn’t have time to do all the work necessary to get more items up on eBay to make money.”

However, Sheryl continued to trust and seek God and put Him first. He took care of her in return, providing eight sales her first week of the challenge, something that had never happened before.
“If you are diligent to seek God, you will know Him in a deeper, more intimate way. God will reveal Himself to you!”
JOYCE

The sales brought in enough money to pay all of her bills, with a few hundred dollars to spare. “For over two years, I had been working hard for sales, but they had always come in sparingly. The very first week that I put God first in doing the 3030 Challenge, sales poured in even though I had not spent any time on them.”

The success of 3030 led to Everyday Study, our online program offering continued support to help make Bible study a daily habit.

Really, it's pretty simple—the more time we spend reading and studying God’s Word, the better our lives will be. I've found that when I dedicate more time to being in the Word, that’s when everything clicks—at home, at work, and in all of my relationships. I’m a better leader at work, and I can lead my family better. One of the best results is that it makes you happier, which also makes the people around you happier!

No matter where you are in your walk with Christ, we have something to help at our online study page, “The Word—Study it. Live it. Love it.” Here you can find whatever type of Bible study or online study track that interests you. It’s mobile, easy to use and all free at joycemeyer.org/study

Another great part of this is that as people come to Christ, get to know Him better and learn to study God's Word, you all have a part in it. It is you who make this growing online ministry available!
As CEO of Hand of Hope, the missions arm of Joyce Meyer Ministries, I regularly travel the world, checking on our international outreaches and looking for new ways to help more people.

Everywhere I go, I witness tremendous need. In so many cases, people are suffering from a lack of basic necessities, and just a little help could change their lives. The need for fresh water is a perfect example.

More than 780 million people worldwide do not have access to safe, clean water. In fact, over 2.2 million people die every year from parasites and other waterborne illnesses. But you are helping to change that...

In 2015, your support made it possible for us to partner with organizations worldwide to install 59 new wells in nations like India, Peru, Zambia, Vietnam, and our first-ever water project in China.

In December, my wife, Shelly, and I traveled to Tanzania to check on some of the communities where we have installed new wells...and we were amazed.

While there, we visited the village of Dumanga, located in a very remote area of Tanzania. Approximately 2,000 people live in Dumanga, and every single one of them has been affected by water scarcity.

Sadly, so many in Tanzania have to walk half a day just to get dirty, diseased water to cook their food...then walk another half day to get home. Most of the time, girls are given this responsibility, often putting them at risk of being abused or trafficked.

Your support allowed us to install a freshwater well with a special solar pump, literally changing their way of life. The people told us how happy they are to have water for themselves and also have enough for their livestock and to irrigate their land.

We also build churches or schools next to some of the new wells we install worldwide. In the village of Mtambula in southern Tanzania, we drilled a well on communal property between the village and the school. As a result, we had the opportunity to share the Gospel message with so many in the village.
“It’s almost hard to overstate what an impact these wells and churches are having in these communities.”  DAVID MEYER, CEO OF HAND OF HOPE

MUNEMMA WAKES AT THE CRACK OF DAWN, and hurries out, hoping to be among the first to collect water...and avoid the fights that invariably break out because of the shortage. The 2,500 people in Chinthala Mannepally Village in India suffer immensely from the water scarcity. Their public taps only provide water two days a week, forcing many to gather dirty, diseased water from the fields.

In 2015, Hand of Hope partnered with Sophia’s Heart to drill a freshwater well and build a church. Now, these families no longer need to fight over the amount of water or the time they take. Instead, clean water pours out in abundance.

YOU ARE REFRESHING THOSE WHO THIRST.
In fact, the head instructor of the school received Christ, opening the door for all of the students to hear the Gospel and also believe! Since then, we’ve been able to distribute Bibles to the teachers, students and the local pastor, along with a soccer ball for the kids.

It’s almost hard to overstate what an impact these wells and churches are having in these communities. Most of the inhabitants are tribal people who have never heard the Gospel and have even acted violently towards those bringing the message of Christ. Now, hundreds of people are attending these newly built churches!

While there, we even heard how one of our wells has brought peace between two tribes who used to fight over a common water source. Now there is plenty of water for all of them.

Everywhere Shelly and I went, we saw such improvements in the villages with new wells. The children were visibly healthier and the people in these communities were also so much happier and more receptive to the Gospel.

Friends, please know that these wells in Tanzania and worldwide are literally changing lives, giving people a chance to be healthy, go to school, work jobs, and get out of poverty. Something as basic as a cold cup of water given in love changes everything.

We absolutely couldn’t do any of this without you, our friends and partners. I know it’s easy to think, I could never build a well—that costs too much. But when you put your money with someone else’s, then together we make a big difference in a community.

On behalf of the entire ministry, I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart. I can tell you firsthand that your support is making a lasting difference in thousands of lives all around the world.

David and Shelly Meyer with community leaders in Dumanga, Tanzania. This new freshwater well with a special solar pump provides clean water for over 2,000 people.

LAST YEAR, WE BUILT 28 NEW CHURCHES.

Providing such a basic necessity like fresh water gives us a tremendous opportunity to share Christ, especially in remote villages where there are very few churches. We are often asked the question, “Why did you come to help us?”

When we build these churches just a few yards away from the well, it is the perfect way to introduce them to a loving God. Because of our act of love, their hearts are wide open to hear the Gospel message. In many cases, entire villages have received Christ...and it all began with fresh water.
When I was a young girl, I remember feeling helplessly trapped in an abusive home. I was desperate, confused and hopeless. I couldn’t possibly have understood during those dark times that God had something marvelous ahead for me—that He loved me and had a plan for my life that included not just escape from the situation but a beautiful purpose.

I don’t dwell on those days but I do remember them, and they have birthed in me a powerful compassion for all who are hurting and a particular burden for girls and young women.

Abuse, neglect, poverty and injustice impact all they touch, but they have a particularly harsh impact on girls.

Did you know that in some parts of the globe, the three most dangerous words are, "It’s a girl"? This simple fact shapes the world around them and can even put their lives in jeopardy.

Treasured, Valued, Loved

PROVIDING HOPE AND A FUTURE FOR YOUNG WOMEN ALL AROUND THE WORLD
And according to international research organizations, there are over 100 million “missing” girls in the world, or girls who were never born or killed at birth simply because of their gender.6

These statistics paint a very dim picture, but God’s plan is very different and His Word promises a hope and a future (see Jeremiah 29:11). The powerful truth of God’s love can change everything.

Just like me, far too many girls simply have no idea of their value and it breaks my heart. You and I must do all we can to tell them they are daughters of the King—highly treasured with limitless potential.”

JOYCE

THE STATISTICS ARE STARTLING...

In a single year, an estimated 150 million girls are victims of sexual violence.1

66 million girls are out of school globally.2

In Africa, 60% of the children who don’t attend school are girls.3

Women and children spend 125 million hours each day collecting water, putting them in dangerous situations and stealing educational opportunities.4

80% of all human trafficking victims are girls.5

Brick factory, Madagascar
Children, many of whom are girls, are exploited for cheap labor. They carry bricks up to 10 hours a day, inflicting severe head and neck injuries.
We are in this together! Where I go to share Christ, you send me. Did you know that together we have openly confronted despicable practices like societal acceptance of spousal and child abuse? I have taught large crowds in places like India, Papua New Guinea and several countries in Africa that God loves women and abuse is an offense to Him.

Perhaps the very best way to show you the difference you are making is to introduce you to a few of the sweet girls you have helped.

Melina is a precious young woman whose self-perception was twisted and scarred when her father abandoned her and she experienced abuse at the hands of different men. She believed what their actions told her: She was worthless. She wanted to die.

After failed suicide attempts and nowhere else to turn, she began seeking God. She came across our program, Enjoying Everyday Life, and heard my testimony. Melina’s healing began when she learned that there is a heavenly Father who loves her unconditionally.

Melina says, “I knew that if God could do that for Joyce, He could do it for me!”

At the Dream Center of Los Angeles, you and I have the privilege of helping young women who have been victims of human trafficking. We can’t use her name because there are still people out there who would hurt her if they could, but it is important that you know the story of one lovely girl.

She was forced into prostitution and her captor not only took away her freedom, but he literally branded her as his property. Can you imagine—having a visible sign on your body, a tattoo, claiming you are property to be controlled and sold to the highest bidder?

With the help of the Dream Center, this resourceful young woman found a way of escape. She is rebuilding her life from the ground up—beginning with removing that tattoo! She now knows that she is no one’s property; she is a daughter of Christ.

Perhaps two of the brightest smiles I have ever seen belong to two little girls just outside of Hyderabad, India in the village of Mallapur. Smiles that you have put on their faces.

Bhavana is 15 years old and her little sister, Nandini, is nine. India is one of the most dangerous countries in the world to be a girl, and Bhavana and Nandini know that danger well.

Their father was furious that they were girls. He was not wealthy enough to provide the dowry they would need to marry. They were neglected, kept out of school, sometimes unfed or worse. Their mother, Susheela, knew she must do something to save her daughters’ lives.

Susheela brought the girls to one of the children’s homes provided by Hand of Hope, Joyce Meyer Ministries World Missions. Here they are completely provided for—well fed, educated, safe and loved.

The sisters have told us that most of all, they are grateful to know Jesus. Their genuine smiles say it all!

God has used you, the friends and partners of Joyce Meyer Ministries, to keep these precious ones and many others like them from becoming statistics.

Together we are exposing the lies, teaching girls and young women that they are valuable, and seeing God work in amazing ways as He heals their souls.

What could possibly be more rewarding? ☺️

2 CORINTHIANS 6:18 (AMP)
Saiamma knew there was a problem. Her eyes wouldn’t stop watering, and her eyesight had begun to fade, making even the most basic tasks extremely difficult.

Living alone in rural India, Saiamma worried about her future. How would she work and take care of herself?

Hoping to find an answer, she took a bus ride to the hospital in Chandrakal. There, doctors gave her some good news: Her condition was treatable.

In fact, they made it possible for Saiamma to receive the life-changing care she needed—a cataract operation and a pair of glasses—free of charge.

Friends and partners, you’re making a way for Joyce Meyer Ministries, Hand of Hope to fully fund this vital hospital in Chandrakal, offering free medical care to thousands of locals who have neither the transportation or the money to pay for a doctor.

The facility includes in-patient services, meals, a maternity ward, eye clinic, pharmacy and many other services that you won’t normally find in rural areas of India.

Today, Saiamma is so grateful for the help she received...and relieved she can return to her daily life with clear vision.

Thanks to you, each year we provide medical care to over 24,000 people like Saiamma at the Chandrakal hospital. And it’s just one of several health facilities you support worldwide...

Through our hospital in Cambodia and clinics in Haiti, Ethiopia and Kosovo, you’re making it possible for tens of thousands of people each year

Providing health healing

MAKING A PLACE FOR PEOPLE TO RECEIVE FREE MEDICAL AND DENTAL CARE AND THE LOVE OF JESUS CHRIST

SERVING IN LOVE

SARAH Lolley

In 2015, I volunteered for two Hand of Hope medical outreaches, and they were so amazing! It’s always difficult to leave my husband and kids, but they know why I go. They understand the children I am helping do not have access to medicine and doctors.

As a partner with Joyce Meyer Ministries, I have heard Joyce say many times, “Some are called to go, others are called to send.” I not only get to be part of the sending, I’m privileged to be part of the going!
to receive the life-changing medical and dental help they desperately need.

In addition, in 2015 together we conducted short-term medical/dental outreaches in 11 different nations, including Sri Lanka, Nicaragua, Haiti, Peru, and Zambia. Volunteer doctors, chiropractors, dentists, and nurses traveled from around the world at their own cost to join us and donate their time and expertise.

We go to remote locations where people lack access to basic medical/dental care. In these places, most of the time it’s the small, seemingly insignificant things that cause sickness and death.

In Nicaragua, for instance, a young mother brought in her eight-month-old son, who had a 103-degree fever. She couldn’t afford to take him to the local hospital, and now he was seriously dehydrated and approaching critical condition.

Our volunteer nurses quickly took action and began administering doses of antibiotics and fluids through a small syringe. Within just a couple of hours, the fever subsided and he was out of danger.
A half a world away in Nepal, a man arrived at our clinic with a severe foot condition. His shoes weren’t made to withstand the area’s rough terrain, and his toes had slowly worn down to the bone. He was on the verge of requiring foot surgery or an amputation.

Thankfully, we caught it just in time. Our team was able to clean his wounds and send him home with an ample supply of antibiotics, dressings and ointments to help finish the healing process.

Because of you, our volunteer health professionals not only examine and diagnose patients, but they are also able to give them the appropriate medicines—all provided for free at our onsite pharmacies.

And our teams address so much more than just their physical needs. We offer help for the body, soul and spirit. On their way out, each patient comes through our ministry area where they have the opportunity to hear the Gospel and allow us to pray for their needs.

This year, more than 7,500 people gave their lives to Jesus Christ at one of our short-term outreaches!

Friends, everywhere we travel, we encounter precious people whose lives were literally transformed because of your support...people like Hiwot.

For six years, Hiwot lived with a large tumor protruding from her neck and chest. She attempted to hide it with a scarf, but it made life painful and her self-conscious.

When she arrived at our clinic in Ethiopia, she hung her head in shame, too embarrassed to make eye contact. Over the years, Hiwot had been stared at, made fun of, and seemingly lost all sense of self-worth.

After evaluation at the clinic, our team made arrangements for Hiwot to travel to the nation’s capital for the care she needed. Then, through your support, we were able to help fund a relatively inexpensive surgery to finally remove the five-pound mass. Without the operation, the tumor could have eventually taken her life.

Today, Hiwot is a brand-new person. No longer ashamed, she smiles often and enjoys a bright outlook on life. God allowed all of us to play a pivotal part in Hiwot’s beautiful story of healing.

And you are a part of so many stories. People are receiving lifesaving medical help, and they are discovering that Jesus is real and that He cares.

God is using you to touch lives all around the world. We may be the hands that meet the needs, but you are the hearts that send us.
A 30-year-old woman who was physically lame crawled for an hour and a half just to reach our temporary clinic in the Dominican Republic. Drenched in sweat and her knees filthy from dust, she came to see a doctor about headaches and dizziness. Due to an un-repaired clubfoot, she had been lame since birth and never able to transport herself without crawling. Our team was so moved by her perseverance and humble spirit. That day, the doctors treated her for the headaches, then we made arrangements to buy her a wheelchair. For the first time in her life, she would no longer have to crawl.
Veteran’s Floor, Los Angeles, CA

There are currently more than 8,000 homeless veterans living on the streets of Los Angeles. So many of them returned home from active service only to struggle with their transition back into civilian life. Post traumatic stress is a major factor that often goes undiagnosed or untreated.

This year, Joyce Meyer Ministries, Hand of Hope fully funded the construction of a brand-new Veteran’s Floor at the Los Angeles Dream Center. This floor serves as a transitional living center where men can live in safety, receive vital counseling, and prepare for a successful launch back into society within six months to a year.

“We wanted to do something great and give these men a safe place to live and dream,” says Matthew Barnett, founder of the Los Angeles Dream Center. “We wanted to create a place of resources where they can come and realize what is available to them.”

“As a father & veteran myself, providing for families in need is very close to my heart. As we reach out and assist these men and their families who have served our great country and help them through a difficult season, we are offering hope and encouragement...and reminding them that God loves them and has a great plan for their future.”

Dave Meyer
Trained staff members help them acquire their military benefits and connect them with other organizations that can help. The men also receive counseling, spiritual support, and practical help in taking the next step in their journey, which often includes reuniting with spouses and family members.

Friends and partners, thank you for fighting for these veterans. Your support is changing everything for these men and their families...and will provide hope for all who walk through the doors of this new Veteran’s Floor.

“I was tired, worn-out and fatigued,” says Johnnie Jelinek, a current resident. “You come here, and you see the light and the love of God working through others and you feel a part of a family. My heart was filled with joy. I am very grateful for this opportunity to get on my feet. I can’t thank you enough.”

Multiply Hope, Hampton, VA and Long Beach, CA

The lives of American military families are often very challenging. Every few years they face new schools and new neighborhoods. Last year, as a part of our ongoing Multiply Hope outreaches, attendees at Joyce’s conferences in Hampton and Long Beach donated puzzles, games, children’s books and other items for local military families. These items were placed in backpacks, then distributed a few days later at community events held by They Serve 2, a non-profit organization dedicated to helping military families. These events feature carnival games, bounce houses, face painting and other attractions.
t. Louis Dream Center, Missouri

Raising a family in North St. Louis isn’t easy. Just ask Norquise Cooper, a single mother of five children, ages 5-13. Her family first began attending the St. Louis Dream Center three years ago, looking for a place to receive encouragement and spiritual support.

“I had no clue that the Dream Center could be so personal,” she says. “They welcomed us with open arms.”

While Norquise participated in Bible studies and leadership classes, her children “plugged in” through the various youth ministries, and together they continued to learn, grow and heal as a family.

Through the St. Louis Dream Center, a church and outreach facility of Joyce Meyer Ministries, you are infusing hope into hundreds of families every single day throughout some of the city’s lowest-income neighborhoods.

You are meeting critical needs and sharing the love of Christ through church services, Christian recovery programs, and ministries like their neighborhood food pantry, after-school feeding programs, and weekly outreaches to the homeless.

Saint Louis Dream Center’s Back 2 School Blast community outreach.

Loads of Love

This year, we provided free laundry service for more than 500 people through the St Louis Dream Center, also offering prayer and the love of Christ.
Today, Norquise spends most of her free time volunteering at the Dream Center. She even recently went back to school to receive her high school diploma.

“When I first came here I was broken,” she says. “But God used the pastors, teachers, prayer warriors and members of the congregation to bring wholeness. Now I can honestly say I’m free! Coming here was the best decision I could have ever made for my family.”

Hand of Hope Center, Palm Beach Gardens, Florida This year, we were excited to partner with Christ Fellowship Church in Florida to build the Hand of Hope Center—a special outreach for families who have children with disabilities.

Juan and Alicia Szuka first started this ministry 10 years ago. Their daughter, Cynthia, has cerebral palsy.

“We found time and time again that churchgoers and even leadership in other places were afraid of us,” says Alicia. “It was because we were visually and physically different.”

The answer? They created a separate place at church where children with disabilities could connect with others like themselves during the service—a place to feel loved and accepted, and learn all about Jesus.

Built on the campus of Christ Fellowship Church, the new Hand of Hope Center provides the adequate room they need. Here, over 300 volunteers supervise and help the children enjoy various activities while the parents attend the adult service. Special counselors also work with the kids one-on-one.

Thank you for creating an environment where children with special needs will be loved and nurtured. This new center will not only change their lives, but it will provide training and support for other churches interested in creating a ministry for the disabled.
“See what great love the Father has lavished on us, that we should be called children of God…”

The new Hand of Hope Center in Florida provides an environment where children with special needs can thrive as they are loved and nurtured.
Most of us probably know very little about leprosy. Perhaps all we know is what we’ve read in the Bible—that Jesus welcomed those who had leprosy and that He stopped to heal them, which was unusual during that time.

The sad thing is, leprosy is still an issue today around the world and especially in India. And it’s still very rare for people to stop and care for those who suffer from the disease, leaving those afflicted feeling rejected and alone.

But thanks to your support, we’re seeing a new ray of hope for nearly 300 families living outside the gates of Coimbatore, India. There, at the base of a tropical mountain range, Joyce Meyer Ministries, Hand of Hope partners with Embrace a Village to lovingly care for society’s outcasts.

That’s where we met Parvathi, whose name means “holy.” Before she contracted leprosy, Parvathi was treasured in her family’s eyes. But once she displayed symptoms, her loved ones abandoned her. To survive, Parvathi begged for food on the streets. She was treated so poorly she felt she was no longer even human.

People who have leprosy are prone to developing ulcers on their feet, making customized footwear crucial to avoiding infection—or even amputation. Joyce Meyer Ministries, Hand of Hope partners with Embrace a Village to provide special shoes to leprosy patients, radically changing their daily lives.
Before despair could overtake her, Parvathi found a new family at the Embrace a Village hospice. Now she receives regular meals, medical attention and has renewed joy through knowing Christ’s love for her is limitless.

For Mohan, Embrace a Village is a gift from God. Living in a leprosy colony, Mohan got used to being alone. Some days, he recalls, all he wanted was a cup of tea. “I’d go to the tea shop and people would say, ‘There is no tea here. Please go away,’ They never gave the tea,” he says. “It really hurt me.”

His suffering didn’t end there. He developed ulcers that required consistent medical attention and struggled to take care of himself...for 30 years.

Today the Embrace a Village medical-care team visits Mohan every week. Along with a month’s supply of rice, he receives medical assistance and self-care packets that contain all the supplies he needs to treat his condition.

Most importantly, he also came to know Christ through the outreach. “Many times I have felt God’s love through someone who shared with me and those who are teaching the Bible,” Mohan says. “I learned that Jesus said, ‘Love one another.’ And because of that verse, I came to believe.”

Parvathi

Thanks to your support—the friends and partners of Joyce Meyer Ministries—Embrace a Village is caring for almost 800 leprosy patients in India. We clean their wounds, feed them and care for their children during the day.

“WE WANT TO SEE THE CHILDREN'S LIVES TRANSFORMED.”

Our mission is to see them educated well and settling in a normal society so they can break the stigma which their parents and grandparents have been going through for generations. By providing awareness and education, we believe that we might be able to break the stigma.”

YOU ARE WELCOMING THEM TO CHRIST’S TABLE.
“Jesus brought me here. For the rest of my life, I’ll just be thankful to Jesus and the (people) who are helping me. Now I am fine.” JAYACHANDRAN

Jayachandran’s life is another that has been full of twists and turns. At one time he had a good job as the manager of a gas company. But when his parents suddenly died, it sent him into a deep depression.

He started drinking to cope with the pain, and soon his physical health also began to deteriorate. Too ashamed to seek medical treatment for the symptoms of leprosy, he developed ulcers so deep and infected he could no longer walk. “No one was coming to help me. I was alone. I was totally unfit for my life, and I thought of committing suicide all the time,” he says.

He bought some pills and chose a date to end his life. In desperation, he says, “I prayed, ‘Jesus Christ, God, just do something for me. Whatever you are going to do, do something. I am ready to come with you.’”

Soon after, the Embrace a Village staff found him and became the answer to that prayer. “God came to my house and took me here,” he says from his new home at the hospice.

He’s so thankful for the medical care he’s received...care that ultimately saved his life. “Jesus brought me here. For the rest of my life, I’ll just be thankful to Jesus and the (people) who are helping me,” he says. “Now, I am fine.”

Along with these outreaches in Coimbatore, your support helps care for many other families in India affected by leprosy in the cities of Tanjore, Thalaivasal, Chengalpattu and Chennai.

Thank you so much for helping us share the love of Christ with these beautiful people who have been through so much. We pray you see the immediate and incredible impact you’re making in their lives, and so many others, as they are transformed by God’s unconditional love.
Abigail woke up in a dark room with a searing headache. She then waited in dread as men came in to repeatedly beat and rape her. It seemed like a bad dream, but it wasn’t. Abigail had been sold in Greece by a man she thought was a friend.

Thankfully, the Greek police conducted a raid and rescued Abigail, then brought her to an A21 home where she could heal. There, she received biblical counseling, medical care, and unconditional love.

Thanks to you, Joyce Meyer Ministries, Hand of Hope partners with A21, an organization helping rescue and restore so many others just like Abigail all across Eastern Europe.

Out of the darkness

Offering God’s love and a way out for victims of human trafficking

Abused as a child, Rebecca* grew up starved for love and affection. Marrying at just 17, she hoped to begin a new chapter in life. But her husband’s infidelity led to divorce...and sent Rebecca into a downward spiral.

One painful experience after another left her shaken and hopeless. Over time, she became depressed, addicted to pills, and extremely vulnerable to bad influences.

That’s when Rebecca met “the perfect guy” through an online dating site—a man who promised her love, security and everything her heart desired. Little did she know that he was a pimp... and she was the perfect target.

After a whirlwind wedding in Las Vegas, her new husband snapped and showed his true colors. He beat her mercilessly and threatened to keep her from her children. It wasn’t long before he forced Rebecca into prostitution on the streets of Los Angeles to “pay him back” for all the good he had done for her. It became painfully clear: She was no longer free.

“I thought I was going to die,” says Rebecca. “I called my mom, and she told me about Project Hope. I called them for help, but I needed a plan to get away.”

Project Hope is a ministry of the Dream Center of Los Angeles in partnership with Joyce Meyer Ministries, Hand of Hope. This outreach is committed to rescuing and restoring those trapped in human trafficking in Los Angeles and has helped hundreds of women.

A few days later, Rebecca had an opportunity. When her husband left for a drug call, she gathered her belongings and fled with the help of a Project Hope rescue team.

In addition to providing a way out, our recovery shelter can occupy up to 20 women at a time. Here we offer medical care, special life skills support, and most importantly, a stable environment where they receive the love of Christ.
“Project Hope has saved my life,” says Rebecca. “God is the father I always wanted, and He has taught me there’s always hope. Now I want to help other women because I’ve been there.”

This past year Rebecca graduated from the program and is now back in school, continuing her education.

It may be difficult to believe, but right now, there are more than 300,000 victims of human trafficking in the United States. Half of them are under 18. And only one percent are ever rescued.¹

It’s a part of a bigger problem worldwide, where approximately 800,000 girls are trafficked across international borders each year. Even worse, their average age is only 12-14 years old.²

However, in 2015, you played a vital role in rescuing so many of these precious girls in nations like Cambodia, Thailand,

Name has been changed to protect identity.
Greece, and India. In Ethiopia, for example, we have partnered with Crisis Aid International to establish two rescue homes in Addis Ababa, the nation’s capital.

Here, more than 150,000 women and girls are trapped in a life of forced prostitution, living and working in tiny rooms slightly bigger than a bed. Each week our teams walk the streets, offering encouragement, prayer, and a way out. Our homes provide the girls with a safe place to live, along with food, clothing, medical care, biblical counseling and even job placement.

Samrawit is one of the first girls we rescued after our homes opened in 2007. Frightened, alone and pregnant, she saw no future for herself or her baby outside the 10’ by 8’ room where she lived. At our home, she developed a relationship with God and received the unconditional love and support she needed to start a brand-new life. She also gave birth to a beautiful baby girl.

This year, we were thrilled to catch up with Samrawit, a nurse working with a local organization to help other girls escape from forced prostitution. She is one beautiful example of hundreds of success stories you have made possible through this outreach in Ethiopia.

This year, you also offered hope to so many others through our support of the SHE Rescue Home in Cambodia, Gabrielle House in Thailand, and our outreaches to Greece, Ukraine, Bulgaria, the United States, Cambodia, Thailand, Ethiopia, India, Australia, Norway, Netherlands, and the United Kingdom.

We partner with A21 to support this rescue home in Thessaloniki, Greece, providing girls with unconditional love, counseling, life skills, and restoration through Jesus Christ.

In all, in 2015, you made a profound difference in 280 lives. From the streets of L.A...to northern Thailand...to Greece and all across eastern Europe, you provided a way out for those in desperate situations, standing up for those who couldn’t help themselves. You also shared with them the love and message of Jesus Christ, the greatest gift they can ever receive.

So, on behalf of Rebecca and all of the others, thank you for offering them new hope and a new life. Because of you, their lives are forever changed.

280 WOMEN RESCUED
In 2015, you provided a way out for hundreds of women and children trapped in a life of forced prostitution.

8 RESCUE HOMES WORLDWIDE
These rescue centers provide women with a safe home, medical care, counseling, life skills training, and the unconditional love they need to make a fresh start.

13 NATIONS IMPACTED
Your support is rescuing women in Greece, Ukraine, Bulgaria, the United States, Cambodia, Thailand, Ethiopia, India, Australia, Norway, Netherlands, and the United Kingdom.

MATTHEW 25:35 (NKJV)
What a beautiful display of hope in the midst of tragedy! Thanks to you, we were able to multiply that hope and help reach thousands of families in Nepal, providing 4,500 blankets, tents, medical care, food packets and fresh water.

That’s one of the main reasons we are so committed to helping provide relief when disaster strikes...to restore hope and share the love of Christ in times of great loss. Something families in Pakistan also know all too well...

Persecution and unrest. Akash, an 18-year-old in Lehore, Pakistan, displayed unwavering faith as he blocked a suicide bomber from entering his church. Determined to save the lives of the 1,000 worshippers inside, a witness says he saw Akash grab the bomber and say, “No matter what happens, I will give my life, but I won’t let you enter the church.” It was then that the bomb went off and Akash gave his life to save so many.

Two bombs went off in the city that day, leaving 22 dead, including Akash. Left to grieve their son, his family had to miss work. Thanks to you we were able to come alongside them, and the others who lost loved ones that day, and provide the financial support they needed.

Altogether, we were able to provide relief following 16 disasters in 2015. We rebuilt a children’s home in Cambodia and provided food, supplies and cleanup after a cyclone, earthquake, tornadoes, flooding, persecution and unrest.

From Nepal to Pakistan and everywhere in between, we thank you for bringing help and restoring hope in their time of need.

If you’d lost everything in a flood, what would be the one thing you’d want back? For Erletha, from Union, Missouri, it was a bright blue trunk that held all of her family’s keepsakes, including pictures, certificates and drawings from her now grown children.

She was able to salvage a few of those items and even the trunk itself, but the December flooding in Missouri devastated her home and nearly everything in it. Thankfully we were able to partner with Service International and Convoy of Hope to help Erletha and many other families with cleanup, food, water and supplies.

“I feel like I’m in a dream and until yesterday, I really didn’t have hope. But you guys give me hope,” Erletha shared with us during cleanup efforts at her home.

Through Convoy of Hope and Service International, nearly 200 volunteers helped clean 88 properties and distribute more than 135,000 pounds of food, water and supplies throughout the affected region. But like Erletha shared, they did so much more than that. They also brought hope.

Missouri Flood Relief
This year, you helped reach many people in their greatest moment of need. From men and women whose lives were shattered by addictions and emotional pain...to thousands behind prison walls desperate for new hope.

You were there to share God’s love, healing and restoration—helping them exchange their pain and brokenness for complete wholeness in Jesus Christ.

In the heart of North St. Louis, Missouri, you are a part of the Genesis Men’s Home—a faith-based discipleship program for men struggling with substance addiction and other life-controlling issues. It’s one of 29 outreaches and ministries at the St. Louis Dream Center, a church and outreach center of Joyce Meyer Ministries.

Pastor Kendrick Haynes is the Director of the Genesis Men’s Home, and he plays many roles in the men’s lives—leader, father, teacher, friend. Here, they are a family, and the men are accountable to their leaders and each other.

“It’s all about an entire life transformation,” says Pastor Haynes. “We want these men to become strong in every area—spiritually, emotionally, mentally and physically. First, we help them come to know Jesus, then help them find freedom while they’re discovering their purpose and learning to reach out to other people.”

Each day at the home is very structured. The men begin their mornings with devotions and household chores. Pastor Kendrick then leads them into several hours of classroom group study, using a Bible-based curriculum to address a variety of life issues such as breaking addictive behaviors, anger management, and respecting themselves and others. Jesus is at the very center of every issue.

After lunch, they transition into what they call “work therapy.” They join one of the Dream Center outreaches, whether it’s helping with the after-school feeding program, the nursing home ministry, or simply helping with maintenance and cleaning on campus. It’s a time for them to focus on helping others and walk out the lessons they have learned in class.

HELPING PEOPLE RECEIVE GOD’S HEALING AND RESTORATION WHEN THEY NEED IT THE MOST

Thirty-three-year-old Joe Franklin arrived at the home with a severe drug addiction. He had been praying for a way out when some friends told him about the program.

“Before I came to the Genesis Men’s Home, my life was in utter chaos,” says Joe. “Since being here, God has restored me and my family and has helped me overcome my addictions.”

After residents complete this first 12-month student phase, they are invited to continue living at the home for an additional six months to help the transition back into society. During this time, the Genesis Men’s Home helps them find employment while they continue to engage in the curriculum and outreaches of the Dream Center.

For these men, Genesis has become more than just a recovery center; it has become their home, representing a new beginning in every area of their lives.

“These leaders have helped me grow so much and taught me how to be a man of God,” says Joe. “It helped me realize I could have a life far greater than I ever dreamed.”

In 2015, you also touched thousands of hearts behind prison walls, bringing restoration and Christ’s message of love to those who are often forgotten.

Rodney is currently serving a 25-year sentence. This year, our team visited his Tennessee prison, giving him a special package, including one of Joyce’s books full of God’s Word and some hygiene items. It was the first time in years anyone had come to visit him.

“Just to know someone cares moved me to tears,” he wrote to tell us. “I don’t have anything to offer, but I have now accepted Christ in my life. I am now free from hurt and pain because I know God has forgiven me. Thank you, thank you, thank you!”

This year, you made it possible for our prison outreach teams to visit over 160,000 inmates just like Rodney all across the United States.

During our visits, we try to give every single inmate a special package, including a Joyce Meyer book. In most locations our teams also hold services, sharing the Gospel and offering a relationship with Christ. The response is always amazing...

For example, during an outreach in Iowa, we had the opportunity to speak to 225 men. At the end of the message, all but eight came forward to give their lives to Christ! Even the prison warden came forward to receive salvation. In all, more than 5,000 people began a brand-new life in Jesus Christ through our prison outreaches in 2015.
Serving Up Hope
This year, you made it possible for our teams to personally deliver packages, full of God’s Word, to inmates across the U.S. and around the world.

“Everywhere we go, God just shows up,” says Joyce Meyer Ministries Prison Supervisor Roy Lormis. “The men are pulled right in to the message, and some are hearing about Jesus for the very first time.”

One of the year’s highlights occurred in January, when we had the special opportunity to visit more than 300 incarcerated teenagers in Russia. We gave each one of them a copy of Joyce’s book, Battlefield of the Mind for Teens translated into their language. We also held services, and several of them came forward to accept Christ.

“Letters constantly pour into our office from inmates whose lives have been changed by Joyce’s books and our messages,” says Roy. “When you’re sowing into Joyce Meyer Ministries, that seed is producing good fruit. Our partners are a major part of everything that happens...and their reward will be great.”

167,888 inmates visited with a gift package. Across the United States and even into Russia and Ukraine, you shared the love of Christ and a special package containing one of Joyce’s books.

140 lives restored through residential programs. You provided new hope for men and women struggling with substance abuse, eating disorders and other life-controlling issues.

5,027 inmates received Jesus Christ. You made it possible for our teams to hold services, giving thousands of inmates the chance to hear the Gospel message.
“Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears My voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and dine with him, and he with Me.”

Everyone sits back, looks around at each other and has this look of complete satisfaction on their faces. It’s especially sweet when you play a vital role in making it happen—you make sure the table is set, the meals are prepared, and that everyone sincerely feels a sense of inclusion.

Together, as we all gather as one around God’s table, we are absolutely delighted by our partners—the ones serving and preparing a place for so many others. God is transforming people’s lives, and He is using you to make it happen.

So as simply & sincerely as we can say it—
THANK YOU.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS December 31, 2015

NOTE B - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES—CONTINUED

Contributions that are restricted by the donor are reported as increases in unrestricted net assets if the restrictions expire in the fiscal year in which the contributions are recognized. No amounts have been reflected in the statements for donated services since no objective basis is generally available to measure the value of such services; however, a substantial number of volunteers have donated significant amounts of time to the Church’s program services. During 2015, approximately 44,000 hours were donated from volunteers for meetings and conferences.

The Church commonly exchanges educational resources with donors based on a designated contribution. For the year ended December 31, 2015, the cost of these direct donor benefits was approximately $2.3 million. These costs are included as an offset to unrestricted contributions in the statement of activities.

3. Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

4. Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Church considers all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents for the purposes of the statement of cash flows. Deposits in excess of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation’s (FDIC) coverage were approximately $5,582,000 at December 31, 2015. The Church maintains sufficient cash resources to cover near-term working capital needs.

5. Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable is recognized on the accrual basis of accounting. Management believes these amounts to be fully collectible.

Accounts receivable consists principally of reimbursements and refunds from vendors.

6. Inventories

Inventory consists of books, CD’s, DVD’s and all other related items utilized in the media operation of the Church. Inventory is valued at the lower of cost or net realizable value, with cost determined on the first-in first-out basis.

7. Fixed Assets and Depreciation

Expenditures and donated fixed assets in excess of $5,000 are recorded at cost if purchased or estimated fair market value if donated. Depreciation of fixed assets is provided over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets on a straight-line basis, ranging from 3-40 years. Expenditures for repairs and maintenance are charged to operating expense as incurred.

8. Investments

The Church's investments consist of mutual funds. Part of the mutual funds are stated at fair value based on significant other observable inputs of directly comparable securities which represent “Level 2 Inputs,” as they are part of a less active secondary market. The balance of the mutual funds are also stated at fair value, based on unobservable inputs where there is little or no market activity, which represent “Level 3 Inputs,” where fair values can only be calculated using estimates or risk-adjusted value ranges. Dividend, interest and other investment income is reported in the period earned as increases in unrestricted net assets unless the use of the assets received is limited by donor-imposed restrictions, in which case the earnings are reported in the same category as the donations. The fair values of investments as of December 31, 2015 are determined as follows:

Self-Insurance
The Church self-insures for workers’ compensation and employee health claims. Operations are charged with the cost of claims reported and an estimate of claims incurred but not reported. A liability for unpaid claims and the associated claim expenses is recognized as an expense and accrued at year-end. The determination of such claims and expenses and the appropriateness of the related liability are continually reviewed by management and a third party. The Church has purchased stop-loss insurance to supplement the plans, which will reimburse the Church for workers’ compensation claims in excess of $400,000. Medical stop-loss insurance is purchased to reimburse individual medical claims in excess of $100,000 and $6,348,984 in the aggregate.

Ligation
The Church is occasionally involved in litigation as either a plaintiff or defendant arising in the normal course of its activities. The results thereof are not expected to be significant to the Church’s financial position or operating activities.
